

European Cooperation of Medical Ozone Societies

To make the use of medical ozone more effective by providing a larger platform, a group of European societies dedicated to its application of medical ozone have decided to join hands in closer cooperation, thus founding the:

as a central organisation.

Its aim will be to standardize ozone therapy to the greatest possible extent by developing a series of recommended O_3 concentrations and providing uniform dosage guidelines.

In the same way, the member societies will aim at providing mutually valid training & development guidelines, making provisions to the fullest possible extent for all indications and application methods of ozone therapy. In the long run, a European Standard Qualification could become a uniform objective.

The European Cooperation group is not considered to be a society of its own, its board will merely consist of the board members of all member societies together. The structure, objectives and fields of activity of each national society will remain exactly as before.

We intend to conduct a European Congress, with seminars and workshops, every second year, all held in the English language. One of the national societies in turn will be responsible for organizing these.

You will find the currently held training and development sessions, courses, seminars and congresses under the heading „Seminars, Workshops, Congresses“; these are either being held by one of our societies, or consist of events in which we are participating with an ozone seminar.

Every member society is accessible under its own website, which provides information on the organisation and its board, as well as objectives and plans, in addition to other sources of information on the application of medical ozone.

At present, the following are member societies:

The Austrian Mutual Interest Association of Ozone/Oxygen Therapists, „Interessengemeinschaft der Ozon-Sauerstofftherapeuten“, the Swiss Medical Society for Ozone and Oxygen Therapy Methods, „Schweizerische Ärztegesellschaft für Ozon- und Sauerstofftherapien“ SAGOS, the Italian Society for Medical Ozone Application, IMOS, and the German Medical Society for Ozone Application in Prevention and Therapy, „Ärztliche Gesellschaft für Ozonanwendung in Prävention und Therapie“.

Our first European congress is already in its preparatory phase, and will be held in Munich/München from 23rd to 25th May 2003; we shall be starting at 3.00 p.m. on Friday (23.5.) and closing at 1.00 p.m. on Sunday (25.5.). You will find the programme and the conditions for participating under the heading „Seminars, Workshops, Congresses“.
